

Lane battler · 2-4 players · 15-20 minutes

BEAT THEIR FIND, TAKE THE SITE. SHORT A BONE? STEAL IT.

A lane battler for rival paleontologists. Every pair of camps shares a dig site, and you win it by laying a better find there: a run or a set of cards that sit side by side in your hand, because you can never rearrange it. Missing a bone? Take it from a rival. When anyone's hand runs out, the season ends and every site you hold scores.

For fans of Scout and Schotten Totten

Beat the find

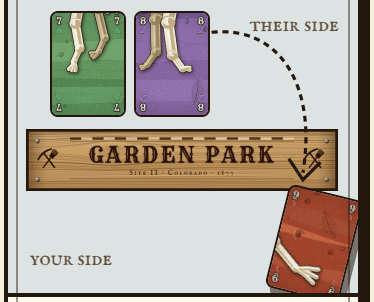

A run

A set beats it

A suited run beats that

More cards always wins. Same count? A suited run, all from one skeleton, beats a set, and a set beats a run.

Or poach

Take an end bone off a rival's find and slide it anywhere into your hand. Then send them a card back. They keep it, or it's out for the season.

Three seasons

A season ends the moment any hand is empty. The last one is worth more than the first two together, so nobody is out of it.

2–4 players

15–20 min three quick seasons

45 cards and four site boards, small box

Ready now: rules, print-and-play, and a browser version with bots and a tutorial at darrendon.github.io/games/diggers

Darren Don What's Good Board Games darren@whatsgoodboardgames.com